York range products are not only subversive in appearance, but also innovative in process. Brass material is used to develop the aged brass old-making process for which the products can present the original classical artistic atmosphere.

With The Combination Of Ceramic And Metal, Taste Showing In The Details

YORK RANGE

Procelain is one of the materials often used in European classical art. In order to better adapt the decorative space, we integrate ceramic material into the products.

The union between the texture of metal and porcelain makes York products more fascinating, and make you feel as noble and elegant as a work of art every time you use.

More Flexible Artistic Matching Scheme With 3 Finishes And 7 Combination

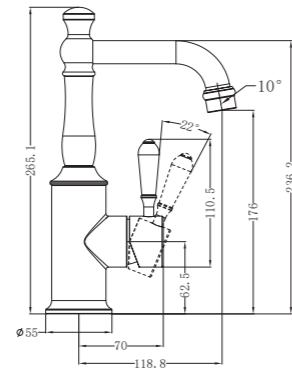

York provides products in three different colors: black, chrome and aged brass, matched with porcelain.

These provide more choices to the living space. You can match at your will, showing your unique taste of life.
