More and more designers are using concrete for their architecture design. By creating concrete looking HI-MACS, we wanted them to overcome any limits when using concrete, such as issues on hygiene and three dimensional design.

Extended application range of concrete.

Since HI-MACS is hygienic and easy to clean, it can extend the range of application to the area that concrete cannot be reached; not only kitchen and bathroom, but also hospital and school.

Suitable for three dimensional design

Thanks to HI-MACS's thermoformability, any bold design ideas can be realized with HI-MACS. It will do an excellent work on creating curved design such as round shaped columns.

Hygienic and easy to clean.

HI-MACS is non porous material and allows visually seamless manipulation, so it can make up the weakness of concrete in terms of hygiene and maintenance.
